Why should you book this course?

Simply put, to prepare you for your future in finance. This course is for you if you want to engage in creating the finance sector of the future. The time is right for change in the finance sector. Powerful societal forces are exerting pressure on the old way of doing things. This points to a need to re-invent the finance industry by updating the way financial professionals make decisions and serve their communities. This course will provide you with new personal, leadership and methodological skills. Upon successful completion of the course you will receive your certificate as a Mindful Finance Professional.

In this Advanced
